Remedial learning engagement by faculty with the use of laptops involves leveraging digital tools and resources to support students who need additional help in their studies. This approach allows faculty to provide personalized instruction and access to a variety of online educational materials and interactive learning platforms. Using laptops, faculty can create and deliver tailored lessons, monitor student progress in real-time, and offer targeted feedback. The incorporation of multimedia presentations, educational software, and digital resources enhances the learning experience, addresses individual learning gaps, and promotes a more effective and engaging remedial learning process.

Remedial learning engagement by faculty using Teaching Learning Materials (TLM) involves the strategic use of educational resources to support students who require additional assistance. Faculty utilize various TLM, such as visual aids, interactive charts, models, and manipulatives, to address specific learning challenges. These materials help to clarify complex concepts, reinforce understanding, and cater to diverse learning styles. By integrating TLM into remedial sessions, faculty can create a more interactive and effective learning environment, making lessons more engaging and accessible. This approach aids in addressing individual learning gaps, thereby enhancing students' grasp of challenging topics and improving their overall academic performance.

On April 23, 2018, English Language Day was celebrated by all B.Ed. and M.Ed. students, commemorating both the birth and death anniversaries of William Shakespeare. This event highlighted the significance of multilingual interactions during the 2018-19 academic year by incorporating a range of languages into the program. The celebration included explorations of Shakespeare's impact on English literature and acknowledged the contributions of other languages to global communication. Through multilingual discussions, readings, and performances, the event emphasized the interconnectedness of different linguistic traditions and enriched students' understanding of the role of language in cultural and educational contexts.

On August 29, 2018, Telugu Language Day was celebrated in honor of Telugu poet Gidugu Venkata Ramamurthy's birthday, with all B.Ed. and M.Ed. students participating. This event underscored the importance of multilingual interactions during the 2018-19 academic year by integrating Telugu and other languages into the program. Through diverse multilingual activities, the celebration enhanced students' appreciation for linguistic diversity and cultural heritage. This approach promoted respect for various languages and improved students' ability to communicate and engage across multiple linguistic backgrounds.
