1. Seminar Overview

- Title: Enhancing Teaching and Professional Competency of Faculty
- Date: 14/06/2018
- Time: one day
- Location: St. Joseph's college of education for Women
- Facilitator: Dr. D. Bhaskar Rao

2. Objectives

The seminar aimed to:

- Improve instructional strategies and teaching methodologies.
- Foster professional development and continuous learning among faculty members.

S. Swarnapalani
PRINCIPAL
ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
FOR WOMEN
GUNTUR-522 001., A.P.

- Enhance faculty skills in student engagement and assessment.
- Promote best practices in academic leadership and research.

3. Content Covered

- Innovative Teaching Methods: Active learning strategies, flipped classrooms, and technology integration.
- Student Engagement: Techniques for increasing student participation and motivation.
- Assessment and Feedback: Best practices for evaluating student performance and providing constructive feedback.
- Professional Development: Continuous learning opportunities, career advancement strategies, and balancing teaching with research.
- Academic Leadership: Effective leadership styles, managing academic teams, and fostering a collaborative environment.

4. Methodology

The seminar utilized a variety of approaches:

- Workshops and Interactive Sessions: Hands-on activities to practice new teaching techniques and engage in problem-solving.
- Lectures and Presentations: Expert insights on current trends and research in education.
- Group Discussions: Collaborative sessions for sharing experiences and strategies.
- Q&A Sessions: Opportunities for participants to seek advice and clarification from facilitators.

5. Outcomes

- Enhanced Skills: Participants demonstrated improved instructional skills and a better understanding of current educational practices.
- Professional Development: Increased awareness of professional development opportunities and career advancement strategies.
- Action Plans: Many participants developed action plans to apply the learned techniques and strategies in their teaching environments.

6. Conclusion

The seminar on enhancing teaching and professional competency was successful in meeting its objectives. Participants left with a stronger grasp of effective teaching strategies and professional development resources. Future seminars could benefit from more focus on technology integration and extended follow-up sessions to track progress.

Significance of Descriptive Research

12/10/2019

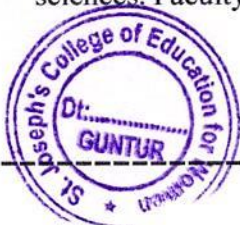

Dr. J. R. Priya Darsini, Assoc Proff SJCE

The Guest Lecture on Significance of Descriptive research was held on 12th October 2019 at Board Room by Dr. J. R. Priyadarsini, Assoc. prof. The seminar aims to provide participants with a thorough understanding of descriptive research, its methodologies, and applications, equipping them with the knowledge to effectively use and apply descriptive research in their own fields. Madam emphasised on Methodologies in Descriptive Research

1. Surveys and Questionnaires: These tools are commonly used to collect data from a large population. They provide insights into opinions, behaviour, and characteristics of respondents.
2. Observational Studies: Researchers observe subjects in their natural environment without intervention. This method is useful for studying behaviour and phenomena that cannot be manipulated in a controlled setting.
3. Case Studies: Detailed examination of a single subject or a small group. Case studies offer in-depth insights and are often used when the research involves complex or unique situations.
4. Content Analysis: This technique involves analyzing content from various sources (e.g., media, literature) to identify patterns, themes, or biases.
5. Cross-Sectional Studies: These studies analyse data from a population at a specific point in time, providing a snapshot of the current state of affairs

The Lecture successfully highlighted the critical importance of research methodology in social sciences. Faculty gained valuable insights into various research methods and their application. The

A Lecture By
Prof. T. Swarupa Rani
Principal SJCE

Date: 12/04/2020

Venue: Board Room

Organized by: IQAC

Facilitators/Speakers: Prof.T. Swarupa Rani, Principal

1. Introduction

The Lecture on "Academic Writing and Ethics in Research" was held to provide insights into the best practices of academic writing and to address the ethical considerations essential in research. The Lecture brought together academics, researchers, and M.Ed. students to discuss strategies for effective writing and to highlight the importance of maintaining integrity in research.

2. Objectives of the Lecture:

To enhance participants' understanding of the principles of academic writing.

T. Swarupa Rani
PRINCIPAL
ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
FOR WOMEN
GUNTUR-522 001, A.P.

- To address common ethical issues in research and provide guidance on avoiding misconduct.
- To offer practical strategies for improving academic writing and research practices
- Structure and Organization: The session emphasized the importance of a clear structure in academic papers, including the introduction, literature review, methodology, results, discussion, and conclusion.

Key points:

- Clarity and Precision: Techniques for writing clearly and precisely were discussed, focusing on avoiding jargon and ensuring that arguments are well-supported by evidence.
- Citation and Referencing: The speaker highlighted different citation styles (APA, MLA, Chicago) and stressed the importance of proper referencing to avoid plagiarism.
- Common Pitfalls: Common mistakes in academic writing, such as ambiguity, lack of coherence, and poor grammar, were reviewed along with strategies to address them.
- Ethics in Research
- Research Integrity: The session covered fundamental principles of research integrity, including honesty, transparency, and accountability.
- Plagiarism: Different forms of plagiarism were defined, and methods for proper attribution of sources were discussed.
- Data Management: Best practices for data collection, analysis, and reporting were outlined to ensure accuracy and reliability.
- Ethical Approval: The importance of obtaining ethical approval for research involving human or animal subjects was stressed.
- Conflict of Interest: Participants were advised on recognizing and disclosing potential conflicts of interest that could affect the research outcome

Conclusion

- The Lecture was a valuable opportunity for Faculty to deepen their understanding of academic writing and research ethics. The combination of theoretical knowledge and practical workshops provided a comprehensive learning experience

1. Webinar Overview

- Title: Experimental Research: Methods, Applications, and Innovations
- Date: 17/09/2021
- Time: 2 PM
- Platform: Google Meet
- Facilitator(s): Prof. T. Swarupa Rani, Principal, SJCE

2. Objectives

The webinar aimed to:

- Provide an in-depth understanding of experimental research methodologies.
- Discuss the design and implementation of experiments in various fields.
- Explore recent innovations and advancements in experimental research.
- Address common challenges and solutions in conducting experimental research.

3. Target Audience

postgraduate students, Researchers, and Faculty from Education in research-oriented programs.

4. Content Covered

- Introduction to Experimental Research: Overview of fundamental concepts and the importance of experimental research.
- Research Design: Key principles of designing experiments, including hypothesis formulation, variables, and control groups.
- Methodologies: Different types of experimental designs (e.g., between-subjects, within-subjects, factorial designs).
- Data Collection and Analysis: Techniques for collecting data, statistical analysis methods, and interpreting results.
- Innovations: Recent advancements in experimental research tools and technologies, such as digital platforms and simulation software.

Speaker(s): Dr. B. Sri Latha

1. Introduction

The Lecture titled "Significance of Social Science Research Methodology" was held on 23/02/2022 at St. Joseph's College of Education for women Guntur. The lecture aimed to underscore the importance of methodological rigor in social science research and to equip attendees with a deeper understanding of various research methods and their applications.

2. Objectives

The primary objectives of the seminar were:

- To elucidate the role of research methodology in social science.
- To explore various research methods and their appropriate use.

T. Swarna
PRINCIPAL
ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
FOR WOMEN
GUNTUR-522 001., A.P.

- To discuss the impact of methodological choices on research outcomes.
- To provide practical guidance on implementing research method

The keynote presentation provided an overview of the fundamental concepts of social science research methodology. Key points included:

- Definition and Scope: The speaker defined social science research methodology and discussed its scope, emphasizing its role in ensuring the validity and reliability of research findings.
- Methodological Frameworks: Various frameworks were introduced, including qualitative, quantitative, and mixed-methods approaches. The strengths and limitations of each were discussed, with a focus on their applicability in different research contexts.
- Ethical Considerations: The importance of ethical practices in research was highlighted. The speaker stressed the need for informed consent, confidentiality, and the responsible reporting of results
- Techniques for data collection, including interviews, focus groups, and observations.
- The process of thematic analysis and coding.
- Case studies demonstrating the application of qualitative methods.

Quantitative Research Methods

Key Points:

- Overview of statistical techniques and tools.
- Designing surveys and experiments.
- Data analysis and interpretation strategies.

Mixed-Methods Approaches

Key Points:

- Combining qualitative and quantitative methods for comprehensive research.
- Examples of successful mixed-methods studies.
- Challenges and solutions in integrating different types of data.

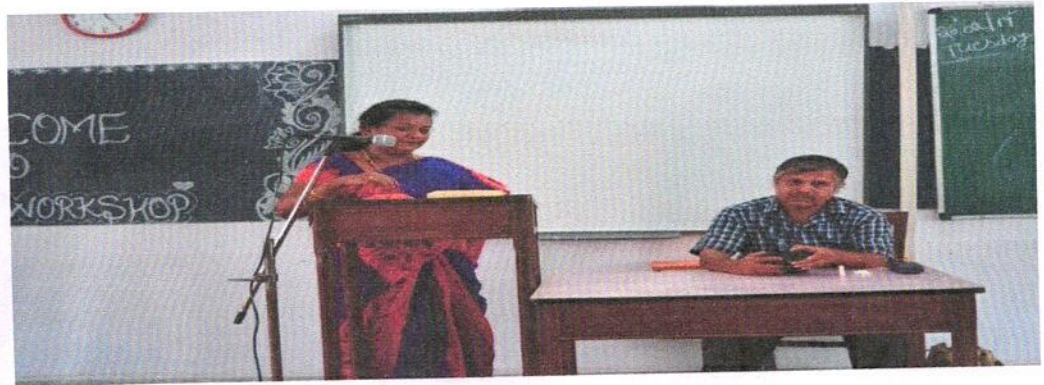

Conclusion

The talk successfully highlighted the critical importance of research methodology in social sciences. Faculty gained valuable insights into various research methods and their application. The Report On National Education Policy-2020 in transforming the Indian education.

A webinar was organised by IQAC on NEP2020-In transforming the Indian Education on Google Meet on 24th september2024. The resource person for the first session was Prof. M. Vanaja, MANUU, Hyderabad. She reviewed the objectives of NEP1986, and1992and highlighted the Features of Operation Black Board, National core curriculum, computer literacy, functional literacy. Madam examined the NEP2020 in the light of this review. She mentioned that the NEP, 2020 focused on Quality in Higher Education which aims to develop good, thoughtful, and creative individuals. Prof. Vanaja shared some key changes proposed by the policy; for instance, the introduction of multi-disciplinary system of education with emphasis on local languages, mental education, holistic development affecting mind/intellect and behaviour as well. The other key changes shared were relating to institutional autonomy, introduction of specialized courses based on the expertise of the faculty; pedagogy of teaching and learning; research-based courses etc.

The Resource person for the second session was Dr. Aarathi Srivastava, Associate professor NIEPA, New Delhi Implementation and Challenges. Dr.Aarathi explained clearly the challenges and issuesWhile NEP-2020 sets out an ambitious roadmap for transforming Indian education, its successful implementation faces several challenges

Ensuring adequate infrastructure and resources in rural and underserved areas remains a significant challenge.

Implementing the policy requires extensive training and professional development for teachers.

Addressing the digital divide and ensuring equitable access to technology across different regions and communities.

Effective coordination between central and state governments, as well as between different educational institutions, is crucial for the successful execution of the policy.

NEP-2020 represents a transformative shift in the Indian education system, with a strong focus on holistic development, inclusivity, and adaptability to future needs. While the policy sets a progressive agenda, its success will depend on effective implementation, overcoming existing challenges, and continuously adapting to the evolving educational landscape. With concerted efforts from all stakeholders, NEP-2020 has the potential to significantly enhance the quality and reach of education in India.

Resource Person: Dr CH. Narendra Kumar IQAC Co-Ordinator JKC College. Guntur.

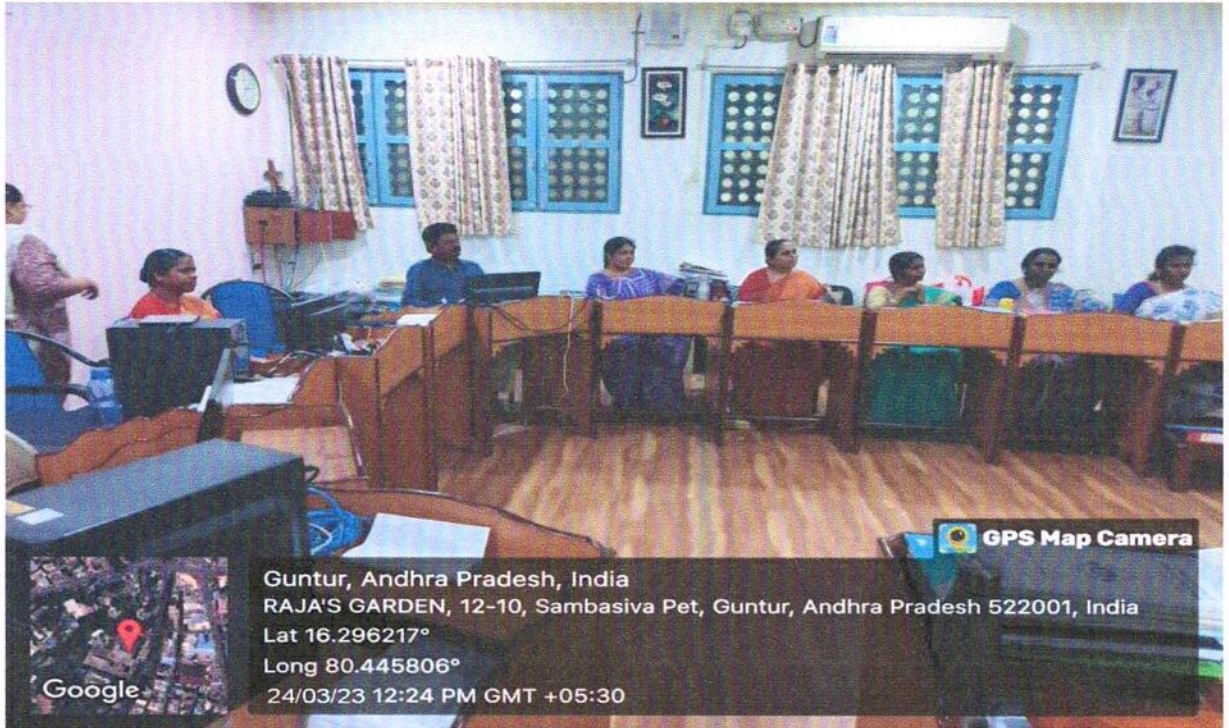

Date: 4 March 2023

Outcome: Faculty had discussion on revised NAAC SSR manual and gained insights to the various criteria

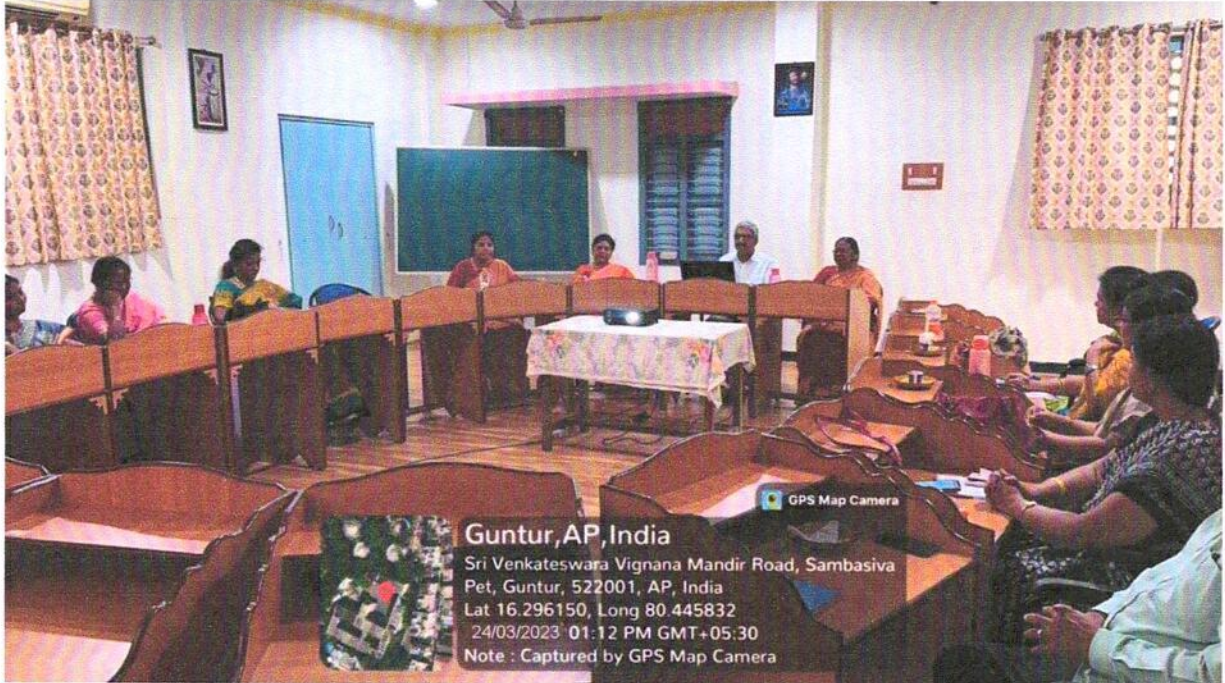

On 4 March 2023, the IQACs of St. Joseph's College of Education Guntur, organized a Work Shop on the theme 'Preparing for the 3rd cycle of NAAC Accreditation. The initiative was spearheaded by Prof T. Swarup Rani (Principal of St. Joseph's college of Education) and Sr. Roselin (Administrative In charge of St. Joseph's college of Education). The IQACs coordinator of institution Dr C. Grace Indira coordinated the programme. Dr Narendra began by emphasizing that quality is the result of intelligent effort. He explained the rationale behind NAAC Assessment and Accreditation and emphasized the NAAC core values that form the corner stone of the process. He deliberated on the Quality Indicator Framework and explained the seven criteria and the key indicators under each criterion. Valuable tips were given with respect to how these criteria need to be interpreted. As documentation forms an integral part of the accreditation process, the resource person emphasized that valid documents that provide robust evidences of work done need to be maintained and presented. He also explained that this documentation could be in the form of geo tagged pictures, feedback, reports, and infographics that will give a clear idea of the regular work being done in the college. Dr Narendra then elucidated the procedural details starting from the IIQA and then the submission of the Self Study Report. As this has to be done in stipulate time, He reiterated the need to keep all evidences and documentation at hand to avoid last minute rush. Elaboration of the Student Satisfaction Survey and Data Validation and Verification helped to gain clarity about the process. Qualitative and Quantitative metrics of the SSR were duly explained. The resource person then spoke about the Peer Team Visit and gave some valuable inputs in the form of Dos and Don'ts that need to be followed. Finally, He elaborated how the final grade is awarded to the institution based on Peer Team Report, system generated quality profile and institutional grade sheet. The seven-letter grade scale was duly elucidated. Dr Narendra advised everyone to refer to the NAAC website for all updates. He maintained that the whole exercise is a team effort with the institutional leader and all stakeholders playing an important role.
